

October 26, 2010
Appropriations and Human Services Committees Public Hearing Testimony
Julie Peters, Executive Director
Brain Injury Association of Connecticut

Good afternoon Chairs and Committee Members. My name is Julie Peters and I am the Executive Director of the Brain Injury Association of Connecticut. I find myself in a very difficult position. As the lead agency in Connecticut on all things related to brain injury, we, of course, support additional slots for the ABI Medicaid Waiver Program. However, the Department of Social Services is requesting to reserve those slots for individuals participating in the Money Follows the Person Demonstration. If you pass this legislation as currently written, this committee will be responsible for forcing individuals to be institutionalized in order to access home and community based service in a timely manner.

Restricting the slots to those individuals is unfair to the 50 people who are currently on the waiting list for the ABI Waiver, some of whom have been on it for more than two years. Due to lack of attrition on the ABI Waiver, without new slots for these individuals, these 50 people have little hope of receiving the services they need to be participating members of the community.

The proposed slots are critical, but not sufficient. The MFP demonstration requires that individuals be currently institutionalized. The 25 active MFP participants will need to transfer to the ABI Waiver once the demonstration is complete. This would circumvent the entire waitlist of individuals who are not currently institutionalized, but are equally entitled. Serving these individuals is still costing state and local municipalities money and resources through unnecessary ER visits, incarceration, and inappropriate inpatient psychiatric stays, not to mention the emotional cost on their families.